LOCAL MARKET EMPHASIZED TO CATTLEMEN

J. W. Camp, manager and vice president of the Frosty Morn Packing Company, 111 Montgomery St., Elba, said that the states of Alabama, Florida and Georgia do not slaughter as many cattle as one city like Louisville, Memphis, Nashville, or Kansas City. He also said that when the West has completed their restocking that we might not enjoy the excellent stealer market that we do now. He believes that more and more Alabama cattlemen should begin feeding to meet local demands.

He pointed out that his company in Montgomery imports an average of 625 head of fat cattle each week from Omaha, Dodge City and other places. Camp made these statements at the annual meeting of the Coffee County cattlemen and cowboys association held at the Enterprise Community Center last Wednesday night.

The cattlemen and their wives enjoyed a delicious steak dinner. President Roy Ellis and the other officers and directors of the association went all out in making the occasion the most successful ever held. Other speakers on the program were Fred Morris of Geneva county, who reported on his recent trip to Russia. Morris described Russian and European agriculture delightfully and in detail.

Roy L. Ellis was re-elected president unanimously. Hayward Taylor, Elba, 1st vice president; H. D. Windham, Rt. 4, Elba, 2nd vice president; and Johnny B. Maddox, New Brockton, Treasurer.

Directors elected were: Charles Mallory, Brown Byrnes, Marion Sanders, J. P. McWaters, Darwood J. Grimes, R. H. Herring, Charles Gibson, Harle Motte and Sam Paschall. Mrs. Lucille Larkins was elected president of the Cowbelles Association. Mrs. Robert Wise, vice president; and Mrs. E. L. Gibson secretary.

Officers, directors and other helpers with the annual meeting were: L. A. Boyd, III, Carlton Larkins, J. P. McWaters, Brown Byrnes, Charles Gibson, Hayward Taylor, H. D. Windham and Ed Harris. Plans were made for each cattlemen to fatten two calves for the April Sale. Preliminary plans were made for a Junior Cattlemen's Association.

Rain's Appearances Are Decreasing In Elba Last Week

Appearances can be deceiving. The rain poured down in the Wiregrass Thursday evening, last week, until the comment was common: "I never saw such a rain." It seemed to fall by the bucket full.

But J. D. Smith, who keeps weather records as a hobby, said more rain fell Friday, last week, than fell Thursday, last week. The Dec. 11 rain totaled two inches while the rain last Thursday totaled one and a half inches. The difference was that last week's rain was more concentrated—more fell at one time.

December so far this year has been better than December, last year. Mr. Smith said. Rain this December has already totaled three and a half inches compared with two and a half inches in all of December, last year.

FOR ALL FARMERS Many farmers in this area believe that Social Security applies to the older people. This is not true, according to Harry Scott, District Manager of the Social Security Administration. Social Security affects farmers of all ages. Besides retirement protection, the young farmers also secure disability and survivor protection. This additional security that the young farmer receives for his family in the event of his death is a valuable asset.

Jesus, whose birth we now celebrate, was born in a manger, grew up among lowly people who were subject to a yoke of a foreign oppressor, in a remote and conquered province of Palestine, in a carpenter's shop, but in close communion with his heavenly Father, turned out to be the top personality of all time.

He owned no property except a coat, had no home, never was in a big city, and traveled over only a small area, but He has influenced the world more than all armies and all navies of the world combined.

His greatness is due to the fact that He was human and divine—God in body and spirit among men of that time and place but for mankind of all time. Indeed the Bible assures us that He is omnipotent, omniscient, omnipresent.

It was his doctrine that ignited the revolution in Europe that caused brave men to leave their homes, cross a tough ocean in crude crafts, settle in a new land, and establish a new nation based upon freedom and justice. It is here that

GROWERS OF PEANUTS OK AD PROGRAM

The 18,000 Alabama peanut growers have registered overwhelming approval for a continuing national promotion program to build bigger markets for the Alabama peanut program another three years.

Over 82 per cent of the growers voting in the referendum approved the campaign of the Alabama Peanut Producers Association to persuade large manufacturers to buy more and to increase the consumption of peanut butter, the item in which most Alabama peanuts reach the public.

Association president, H. H. Knowles, a peanut producer from Headland, lauded the results of the referendum as "a great opportunity for us to train for the future lies in what we can do for ourselves as growers to secure better prices, rather than relying on Washington."

Peanut producers approved continued annual contributions of $1 per ton of farmer's stock to finance the association program. Funds will be collected each year through 1962 as the crop is sold.

The proposal was required by law to win a two-thirds majority of growers voting and did so in all 15 of the peanut-producing counties, according to Frank M. Stewart, Farm Bureau district director and treasurer of the peanut association.

Membership in the Alabama Historical Association has increased to 1,919. Of this number, five live in Coffee county including one in Elba and one in New Brockton. They are: Miss Eura Parris of Elba;

Through the Keyhole

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

WHITE GLADIOLI and red carnations centered the chancel and were flanked by graduated tiers of cathedral candelabra holding red candles. Sides of the chancel were adorned with standard baskets of white flowers and simple candelabra of red candles. Greenery formed the background and snail was entwined into the altar rail.

Such was the setting for the lovely Christmas wedding of Miss Wanda Sue Carmichael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Carmichael of Enterprise, to Mr. David Earl Wilkerson, of Ozark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilkerson. The bride is the niece of Mrs. Mayo Prescott. The marriage was performed at the Wesley Chapel by Rev. Bass. Music was by Mrs. Mary Capes and Miss Linda Folsom, both of New Brockton. Miss Folsom sang "Always," "Oh, Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer" as a benediction.

Sue was a lovely bride in a white satin gown of classic design with V neckline and long sleeves ending in lily points at the wrist. Her veil of imported illusion was attached to a tulle of pearls. Her flowers were white carnations, circling a white orchid sprinkled with miniature wedding bells with silver clappers.

MAID OF HONOR was Miss Janet Carmichael, cousin of the bride. She wore red satin fashioned after the bride's with V neck and cap sleeves. A brief hat and rose veil were of matching material. She carried a bouquet of red carnations.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By T. C. Self

Blue trees planted in Coffee county during the past three years are showing a remarkable rate of growth. Judge J. O. English has a three-year-old planting that will average well over eight feet in height. At this rate of growth, it is a few plantings will be ready for thinning within a few years.

A majority of the land planted in trees has been class 3 and 4 land. Class 3 or 4 land is submarginal land that should be taken out of cultivation. It is usually sandy or rolling or both. Such land is subject to severe erosion and leaching conditions and after a few years of cultivation this land loses much of the six inches of top soil resulting in poor production.

As the year comes to an end, we can look with pride to the many conservation measures that have been applied. Even so, much work remains in the conservation field. Let us all work together with the determination to do a better job. We of the Soil Conservation Service wish you all a Merry Christmas.

ALL OFFICERS OF S. E. GAS ARE RENAMED

All officers of the Southeast Alabama Gas District were re-elected at the annual meeting of the district's board of directors, held at the main office in Andalusia recently.

J. T. "Jimmy" Throver of Dothan was named to his third term as president. Other re-elected officers are Ned Moore of Opp, vice president; Jack Bridges of Headland, secretary-treasurer; and Nick Hawkins of Lufkin, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Charles Cowart of Troy, the only new member of the Board of Directors, attended his first meeting.

Other directors are J. F. Crawford of Abbeville; W. H. Baldwin, Andalusia; J. A. M. E. Bryan, Brundidge; Herschel Taylor, Elin; M. N. Brown, Enterprise; Martin Edwards, Eufaula; H. R. Ellis, Ft. Deposit; J. Fred Steele, Greenville; and Douglas Brown, Ozark.

R. J. Smith, district general manager, reported that the meeting was routine except for the election. The directors, who represented each of the 14 member cities of the natural gas utility, expressed their satisfaction with the district's growth and progress during 1959.

People must be made to realize that from these lands come the raw material that creates jobs, pay taxes, turn the wheels of industry and generally improve the welfare of every citizen in the county.

The number one enemy to the forest of Coffee county is fire. Our fire suppression forces are still woefully inadequate. The dropped tree planting program in the past few years demands that we intensify our fire prevention efforts such as the "Keep Coffee County Green" program. Fire prevention is everybody's business.

RANGER SEES PROGRESS IN FIRE CONTROL

By Gordon M. Drewery

Forest Ranger, Coffee County Much progress has been made in the reduction of forest fires here in Coffee county since the fire control program was launched about ten years ago, but there is still greatest threat to this worthwhile program today is complacency.

When things are going well, it is a natural trait to grow complacent. This must be guarded against in the promotion of a well-rounded forestry program for Coffee county.

People must constantly be reminded what creates jobs and payrolls and this can be done at the county and community level. With twenty percent of the wage earners in Coffee county employed by the wood using industries it is important that they should realize their livelihood as well as the general welfare of the county depends to the great extent on the management of our forest land.

It's true the timberland ownership pattern has changed in recent years, but still the small farm woodlot which is the key to an abundant timber supply in the future.

People must be made to realize that from these lands come the raw material that creates jobs, pay taxes, turn the wheels of industry and generally improve the welfare of every citizen in the county.

The number one enemy to the forest of Coffee county is fire. Our fire suppression forces are still woefully inadequate. CHAPTER 21

JIM SHANDY and his two plug uglies were riding once more in a direct line to overtake the train. Joe Hassell and Emil Fredrick's stolen horse were dead in a gulch far off the trail. Parson Bill Kerr was now riding Hassell's pony, which, according to Shandy's instructions, they would say they had found running loose on the prairie.

"Big Nose tried to drink all the whiskey in camp," Shandy said. "For all I know, he's been drunk all the way from St. Louis." He looked hard at Mike Nemith. "Maybe you can lose the train the rest of the way."

Nemith spat. "Far as it goes, I can."

"Parson Bill and me, that is," Nemith said, and his words and his look gave each other a warning that he was coming slowly, hunting as he traveled, and with him were many cursed Banlocks. Why did white men always have about them enemies of the Nez Percés?

It was a rhetorical question. He suggested that the Banlocks on the Sweetwater might have camped there, waiting for Red Man. The Nez Percés left soon after to find out. He tried to settle down to wait patiently for the Hudson's Bay brigade.

It was hard waiting. He kept figuring distance and time. He was hard to sustain.

Hudson's Bay arrived four days later, a Union Jack at the head of the train, strong British discipline along the length of it. Traveling with Red Man were 150 Banlocks, fifteen Delawares and away from some luckless American independent, and about thirty free trappers.

It was in no hurry. Jim McIvane, or Red Man, He began to set up camp while Rees was urging him to go on toward rendezvous. "There's always time," Red Man said.

The Banlocks, already sour by virtue of being born, were grumpy to find fresh sign of the Hudson's Bay. His information about the actual approach of the American Company train was another matter, for Hudson's Bay action had hung upon that point. It certainly was not worth three thousand dollars, except on paper. To stay this shady, grasping American rogue his price would be a business stupidity, and that was why Hudson's Bay did not plan to pay him.

"Kill him if he tries to come back," is Jim Shandy's order as the story continues tomorrow.

Activity Quickens In Business Life

Progress in high gear summarizes the past year in Elba.

There was a dark spot in that both the cotton and peanut crops were about one-fourth under normal but when viewed against the many other progressive strides, the crop year pales in the picture as a whole.

The past year saw the following:

(1) Sale of Dorsey Trailers, third largest trailer manufacturing plant in the world;

(2) An increase of more than a third in the number of employees at Dorsey Trailers which was still rising toward the 1,000-mark at the end of the year;

(3) Reorganization of the Elba Chamber of Commerce;

(4) Organization of a savings and loan association in Elba;

(5) Opening of a full-time real estate brokerage firm in Elba;

(6) The beginning of a new industry with formation of a new industry, Trainers, Inc.;

(7) A new high record indicated in retail sales in Coffee County, although complete records for the year will not be available for several weeks;

(8) Construction of a big new grocery Super Market reflecting a growing retail market and confidence in the future;

(9) Elba's entrants in the Dothan Peanut Festival walked away with titles of Little Miss Peanut and Miss Conspicuity;

(10) The Third Annual Elba Fall Festival was pronounced the biggest and best yet;

(11) The Elba Chamber of Commerce placed itself behind efforts to obtain 100 new homes after a survey showed that 80 per cent of the year were 83 per cent above those for the first half of the previous year.

City and county schools opened with a record enrollment.

The progress of Elba quickened in the final quarter of the year as the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Coffee County completed organization with T. K. Dorsey, president, Jerry Brunson, vice president and secretary, and approval of 20 home loans at its first official meeting.

Cop Titles
Elba's entries in the Dothan Peanut Festival were chosen Little Miss Peanut and Miss Conspicuity. Little Debbie Lindsey, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindsey, topped the coveted title of Little Miss Peanut. Rheta Ann Crook, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Crook, carried away the title of Miss Conspicuity.

The Third Annual Fall Festival was pronounced the biggest and best yet as thousands of persons converged upon this city for a day of fun and frolic. The Elba Clipper Fall Festival Edition drew letters of congratulation from throughout the Choctawhatchee-Pear River basin and drew comment in The Birmingham News.

The Chamber of Commerce staged a program at the October membership meeting to emphasize the need for 100 new homes highlighted by a comment from Elie Brunson, Production Manager at Dorsey Trailers, that half the Dorsey employees now live out of town.

A survey at the plant showed that 100 families would move here immediately if housing could be arranged.

And as the New Year dawns, J. Dryden Smith, who operates Smith Bros. grocery, the oldest business in Elba under one ownership, will be 71 years old Friday in the same good humor and with a new joke for every friend. He knows no enemies.
